

Office-Based Applicants

Europa has always maintained a policy of recruiting the best people, regardless of their location, provided they can meet exacting standards. Although many of our sales developers and some other associate consultants can be based anywhere, our in-house marketing, account and data management team are primarily based from our Beaconsfield office. We will be delighted to discuss career options with anyone who feels they have something special to offer our business.

We are always interested to hear from:

- Sales developers
 - Junior roles: graduates or with some experience of internal sales
 - Senior roles: > 2 years in IT sales or related work with proven track record
- Marketing consultancy management/administration

Please provide us with a CV plus your own outline/assessment of your aptitude in the following areas:

- Where did you hear about Europa?
- Which position are you applying for?
- Are you looking for salaried or freelance employment?
- Nationality and work permits

Tell us more about your skills in the following areas:

- Language skills and fluency levels
- Verbal and written communications skills
- Sales skills (include training courses and accreditations)
- (If applicable to role applied for) marketing qualifications
- Presentation skills
- Keyboard literacy and speed
- Competence in CRM systems and MS Excel
- Numeracy
- Time management
- People management
- How well do you work within in a high-pressure, 'sales-type' environment, with multiple tasks, tight deadlines and constantly changing schedules and priorities?
- Do you prefer working alone or in a team?
- With what sort of people do you prefer to work?
- What are the main things you expect from your employer?
